

THE INHERITANCE

A NEW PLAY. GENERATIONS IN THE MAKING.

THE INHERITANCE • BY MATTHEW LOPEZ • DIRECTED BY STEPHEN DALDRY • DESIGNED BY BOB CROWLEY

It begins with a gathering of young, gay New Yorkers.
Each has a story aching to come out...

THE INHERITANCE is a life-affirming journey of tears and laughter, through struggles and connections, despair and hope. It is extremely moving and often hilarious and asks how much we owe to those who lived and loved before us and questions the role we must play for future generations. This epic told in two parts takes us through the intertwining lives of three generations of gay men searching for a community of their own – and a place to call home.

A huge success in London, where it received four Olivier Awards, including Best Play, THE INHERITANCE is written by Matthew Lopez, one of America's most daring theatrical voices, and directed by Tony Award® and Olivier Award winner (for this production) Stephen Daldry (Billy Elliot; "The Crown").

"Here is the play of this year and last year and quite possibly next year as well."

--Evening Standard

"It will make you laugh, then cry, then shake your head at its sheer, brilliant audacity."

--City AM

BARRYMORE THEATRE
243 WEST 47th STREET
NEW YORK, NY 10036

Groups 10+

Opening night November 17, 2019

Running Time:

Part 1--3 hours, 15 minutes, including 2 intermissions

Part 2--3 hours, 20 minutes, including 1 intermission & a 5-minute 'pause'

Recommended for ages 16+ (language, nudity)

GreatWhiteWay.com

(212) 757-9117 | (888) 517-0112