

HARPER LEE'S TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD

Winner of the 1961 Pulitzer Prize in Fiction, Harper Lee's masterpiece stars Tony Award® nominee and Emmy winner Jeff Daniels (Blackbird; God of Carnage; "The Newsroom") as attorney Atticus Finch and Tony nominee Celia Keenan-Bolger (The Glass Menagerie, Peter and the Starcatcher) as Scout, his daughter.

Published in 1960, the novel was an astounding success, as was the 1962 film. Now, Emmy and Academy Award winner Aaron Sorkin ("The West Wing;" "The Social Network") adapts it for Broadway, and Tony winner Bartlett Sher (My Fair Lady, South Pacific, The King and I, The Light in the Piazza) directs.

TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD is inspired by Harper Lee's own childhood in Alabama and deals with racial tensions in a small southern town. The character of Atticus Finch, based on Lee's father, is one of literature's symbols of honesty and righteousness. The character of Scout, based on Lee herself, has come to define youthful innocence—and its unavoidable loss.

See Lee's candid dissection of justice and tolerance in the American South come to life on the Broadway stage.
